Subject: You're going to force more pumping

Water board,

I am opposed to increasing unimpaired flows on the Stanislaus River. Reducing the amount of surface water available to our region will result in decreasing land values, decreasing agricultural revenue and increased groundwater pumping. The density of rural homeowners is much greater here than in counties to the south; increased agricultural groundwater pumping could devastate shallow residential wells, impacting thousands of rural residents as well. Taking our surface water will be devastating economically, environmentally and socially for our entire region.

Respectfully,

Janie Gatzman
